Twelve-year-old Alfie Potts becomes an entrepreneur with the help and guidance of his father. He learns the power of ideas and problem solving, and soon realizes that trading time for money can have its drawbacks. During another lesson from Dad, Alfie learns the power of leverage and soon achieves his goal while helping his friends to achieve theirs.

Twelve-year-old Alfie Potts becomes an entrepreneur, with the help and guidance of his father. In "Alfie and the Seminar," Alfie sees something he really wants but is disappointed to find he doesn't have enough money to buy it. His dad then teaches him about value to the marketplace, and as a result Alfie gets way out of his comfort zone and plans his first seminar. The value he provides means he soon gets what he wants and more.

Get to know the everyday heroes in your community! From firefighters to teachers, mail carriers to crossing guards, neighborhood helpers are all around. Young readers learn about the importance of cooperation and the people who lead the way in our communities. Perfect for beginning readers, National Geographic Pre-readers include simple, expert-vetted text and large, engaging photos on every page. A vocabulary tree at the beginning of the book introduces kids to key words in concept groups, helping kids make connections between words. Plus, a wrap-up activity gives kids a chance to use what they've learned, while expanding their understanding of the world.

Saucy, rude and vulgar—the 31 Carry On films remain an important part of the history of British cinematic and low brow comedy. In this book, Gerrard discusses the Carry On roots in the music halls of the Victorians and the saucy seaside postcards of Donald McGill. Made in post-war Britain, these films reflect a remarkable period of social change as the British Empire faded and a nation learned to laugh at itself. Nothing was sacred to the Carry On team. James Bond and Cleopatra were mercilessly lampooned, Miss World competitions and toilet factories came in for a cinematic pasting, while Sid James' laugh, Barbara Windsor's wiggle, Kenneth Williams' flared nostrils and Charles Hawtrey's "Oh, hello!" became synonymous with laughter, merriment and fun. Gerrard's work examines the Carry On films as part of a wider canvas linking both their heritage and tradition to the contextual world they mirrored. The Carry On Films is an essential read for Carry On fans the country through."div>Ding dong! Carry On!/div
