The development of pregnancy is counted from the first day of the woman's last normal menstrual period (LMP), even though the development of the fetus does not begin until conception, which is about two weeks later. Pregnancy is calculated from this day because each time a woman has a period, her body is preparing for pregnancy.

~~Day By Day~~

First day of your last period. The most common way to calculate your pregnancy due date is by counting 40 weeks from the first day of your last menstrual period (LMP). And that's how most healthcare providers do it. If your menstrual cycle length is the average length (28-day cycle), your menstrual cycle probably started about two weeks before you conceived.
